

Xiel. Bursary

in association with the IAPM

'Advances of science in medical physics that directly benefit the patient pathway'

Xiel Ltd will be awarding a bursary of €500 to an IAPM trainee/student member or member with <2 years experience to be used for continued professional development and conference/course attendance.

Eligibility Criteria

- IAPM members (including students) with <2 years' experience
- IAPM member currently working as a Trainee Physicist

Application

- Project abstract (250 words max)
- CV (max 1 page)
- Statement describing how your accepted abstract meets the bursary theme 'Advances of science in medical physics that directly benefit the patient pathway' (300 words max)

If shortlisted you will present a 3 minute/3 slide oral presentation of your work at this year's IAPM ASM held on the 20 April at the Cork International Hotel in addition to a poster presentation which will be on display at the event.

Application deadline is 1 March 2024 and applications can be made through the abstract submission portal on the IAPM website.